The Erie Gay Community Newsletter is published monthly as a voice for lesbians, bisexuals, gay men and their friends & families in the Erie area. A source of information, support and affirmation. A vehicle for celebrating the goodness and diversity of our community. EGCN is a cooperative effort between lesbigay groups and individuals to help our community develop and thrive.

Contributors: Our deadline is the 15th of the month! We welcome and encourage all readers to submit news, comments and opinions for publication in these pages. Although we appreciate the importance of fiction and poetry, we are primarily an information publication, and like most general lesbigay publications, we are mainly interested in nonfiction prose. We will be happy to direct you to the many lesbigay publications that do welcome fiction and poetry, and we will support through free publicity any local publication that publishes lesbigay poetry or fiction. Before submitting please send SASE for writer's guidelines. Querying before submitting an article is strongly recommended.

We will consider for publication any material which broadens our understanding of our lifestyles and each other. Views and opinions appearing in this newsletter do not necessarily represent those of Bridges, the EGCN staff or their component groups.

We will not publish any material which promotes hatred or discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, race, gender, religion, age, class, physical ability or any other reason. We do not support exploitation of minors.

All materials submitted must be signed so we can contact the authors should we need to consider editorial revisions. However, within these pages, articles may appear anonymously, upon request, and strict confidentiality will be observed. If you wish to have your full name published, you must send a written and signed note that gives us permission to do so. This publication will not "out" anyone.

Advertisers: Reach Erie's lesbigay community directly! Space in EGCN is now available for as little as $20 for an eight-page ad! Call (814) 456-9833 and ask for EGCN's Advertising Coordinator for more details.

PRIDE growing in Erie

An estimated 125 lesbians, supporters, and their families attended the 1996 Celebrate Pride! Picnic, making it the most successful pride event in Erie to date.

The picnic was organized by a committee of individuals involved in various area organizations. LGLV convened the first picnic in 1992. Bridges, the close-to-defunct area community-building group, had sponsored the picnic in 1994 and 1995.

Thanks go to Wegmans, Tops, Quality Market, and Garry G. Sargent, Sr. for contributing food and charcoal; also to all of the area organizations that supplied brochures and information. Over $60 in donations will be used for next year's picnic.

Any individuals who left behind articles can claim them by calling Chris at 868-0069.

Organizing for the 1997 event will begin in January. If you wish to volunteer or have suggestions, call Elaine at 864-0184 or Greg at 833-3258.

Liberal talk show host leaves WLKK-AM

After five years on the air, Barry Dane Steinhagen has left WLKK-AM. At this point, we do not have enough information to report on the incident in depth.

According to a front page article in the June 20 Erie Daily Times, WLKK almost lost Rush Limbaugh's syndicated radio program because WFLP-AM sent them a tape of Steinhagen being critical of Limbaugh. WFLP is the "other" talk radio station in Erie, involved in a bitter rivalry with WLKK, which apparently hopes to boost its lower ratings by acquiring Limbaugh's program.

In a letter to Rush Limbaugh, Kathleen DeCapua, one of WLKK's owners, stated that she believed WFLP arranged for a caller to phone in to Steinhagen's show in order to entrap Steinhagen into making remarks critical of Limbaugh. She also stated that Pat Campbell, one of WFLP's talk show hosts, has used derogatory remarks for gay and lesbian persons when referring to prominent Erie residents. Chris Hagerty, one of WFLP's owners, told the Times he had nothing to do with the phone call, denied that Campbell used derogatory remarks for prominent Erie residents, and put out a challenge for anyone to come up with tapes of Campbell making such remarks.

WLKK has replaced Steinhagen with Hal Slaughter, a conservative Republican.

More detailed information will be included in the August issue of EGCN.

Letters

The following letter was received via e-mail. We've left the Internet "punctuation" and "shorthand" in place, because that's how it was written. For those not familiar with this, note that the odd-looking punctuation marks in the body of letter are actually facial expressions. For example, this :) is a smile (look at it sideways!). We've put other "translations" into brackets:

I've been a frequent visitor to your fine EGNC home page for some time now, and thought I would take a second or two to tell you what a great find it was for me!

I live in Erie, am out, and have been picking up the newsletter either at Barnes and Nobles or at the Unitarian Church. As soon as I found out you were on the Net, I've been a regular visitor.

I am an America Online Operational Team Leader for the Gay and Lesbian Community Forum (GLCF)...and spend a great deal of my time online, working with the gay community at large. Sometimes my focus is so wide...I neglect the hometown folks. Thank you for narrowing my vision...it's nice to see what's going on in my own backyard. :> Keep up the fine work, and please add me to your mailing list.

I am a big AOL/GLCF booster—also, a lifetime of 37 years Erie booster—so feel free.

I am always happy to find people from Erie online. Mostly though, I find people on AOL—I must admit I stay mostly in the GLCF areas—who are former residents of Erie. I've met gay people who were born and raised here, and have moved on because of, well, life paths in general. It's such a thrill for me to make friends with someone who IMs ["instant message"] me and says: Hey! Erie!! Damn! I graduated from Villa in '71! ...or Hey, I went to Gannon!!!

Some folks haven't been back here in 15+ years. Funny, they always want to know if their favorite pizza parlor still exists in the same location. <g> ["grin"] And if Tullio is STILL alive. :>

As for the GLCF itself, we are one of the 5 most visited forums of all of AOL...although you won't see that statistic quoted in any of AOL's promotional materials. :) AOL has 5+ million members now, so for the GLCF to be one of their most prominent forums is quite the coup for the gay community at large. We service, entertain, inform, and keep many Gay/Lesbian/Bi/Transgendered/HIV + folk in close contact with each other. It is truly liberating and thrilling to touch so many people. :D

Thanks again!

Travel: Camp Davis

by Jim

Camp Davis, located south of Slippery Rock, PA, is one great place to get away for a weekend to just relax and be yourself.

Your hosts are Jim and Keith and they are wonderful people. The campgrounds are very well maintained by them, and also by the campers. They have an inground swimming pool and a large volleyball court, bocce, croquet, and even a small store for the necessities that we all tend to forget at times. There are hiking trails, and a swimming hole in the creek for those who enjoy swimming with real fish, snakes, etc. There is a recreation hall with pool tables, pinball machines and a nice dance floor that gets a lot of use on Saturday evenings or every night on holiday weekends. Eight cabins and numerous tent sites are available for those who enjoy that type of roughing it. All cabins have electricity and beds, you should bring your own bedding, towels and personal grooming products. There is a Giant Eagle in Slippery Rock for any food you may need. Also, a state store and beer distributor can be found there (you must bring your own as no alcohol is sold at the campgrounds).

Having been to Camp Davis myself, I thoroughly recommend it to anyone who enjoys the great outdoors and spending a nice weekend away from the hustle and bustle of the city. There's a real sense of community there: no fighting, everyone gets along with each other. For more information you can contact Jim or Keith at 412-637-2402 or write to them at Camp Davis, 311 Redbrush Road, Boyers PA 16020.

For a truly enjoyable weekend, or even during the week, I would recommend giving them a call. Brochures with rates and dates are available on request. Day and evening passes are also available for those who would like to get away for just a few hours. It is well worth it!!!!

Entertainment Notes

Television

Lesbian comic Kate Clinton is now writing for Rosie O'Donnell's new daytime talk show.

Roseanne made a big thing about someone coming out for her series' season finale, and then the finale was aired and it was nothing but a big blowout between Dan and Rosie. Maybe she was expecting the series to end this year when she said that. Still, kind of a let-down. (We had five bucks riding on Dan getting in touch with his real self!).

Barbra Streisand is producing a lesbian TV movie but we can't find the name or broadcast info.

Lifetime will air the original 1981 movie version of Cagney & Lacey, on July 19 (2 p.m.) Some interesting history. The producers of C&L originally pitched the idea of two women cops to TV execs back in 1974, but they were turned down because the execs thought the whole idea was "too dykey." In 1981, CBS finally approved this movie version, starring Loretta Swit as Chris Cagney. The movie was so successful that it gave birth to the series, which also had TV execs and critics complaining that it was "too dykey," particularly Meg Foster, who became Chris Cagney on the TV series. So they gave Tyne Daley (Mary Beth Lacey) an enormous sexual appetite for her husband Harvey, and brought in supposedly softer Sharon Gless to replace the "dykey" Meg Foster. Then Sharon Gless went on to become a lesbian icon and the series became a favorite show among all those "dykey" people! Also, unbeknownst to a lot of viewers, in a lot of ways the show revolutionized how women were portrayed on TV (feminist leader Gloria Steinem called it "the best show on television.").

Jamestown's Sneakers is bringing in standup comic Emmy Gay (her real name), one of the original members of the Out-rageous comedy trio called No Family Values. She's hosted National Coming Out Day New York and is currently on Lifetime television, and has performed in gay clubs and cabarets all over the East Coast. She pokes fun at people like Jesse Helms, Rush Limbaugh and their ilk, and has a reputation for being the most popular straight comedienne on the gay circuit. She was recently called one of New York's leading feminist comics, and performed at the Fourth World Conference on Women in Beijing China. Gay will be at Sneakers Friday July 19 at 10 p.m. Tickets are $3 pre-sale, $4 at the door. Ticket info (716)484-8816.

Film & Video

Commemorating the event that is a landmark in the modern gay civil rights movement, the film Stonewall will premiere nationally on July 26. It's a drama based on Martin Duberman's book of the same name.

Lesbian comic Lea Delaria appears in the Quentin Tarantino take-off Plump Fiction. Jason Gould (son of Elliot Gould and Barbra Streisand) has written and directed a semi-autobiographical film about the gay son of a celebrity, called Clear. Elliot Gould and Wilson Cruz star in johns, about hustlers.

A couple months ago, writer Larry Kramer announced that he and Barbra Streisand had decided to give up trying to get his gay/AIDS-themed play The Normal Heart turned into a movie. Kramer says after he announced plans to discontinue the project, he was Harriet the Spy will be released in July. It's based on the 1964 children's novel of the same name by lesbian writer Louise Fitzhugh. The book—with its sixth grade dyke-to-be protagonist—captured the imaginations of a lot of lesbian writers (Alison Bechdel, Sarah Schulman, Louise Rafkin and others), who grew up with it. It remains to be seen if the movie stays within the spirit of the book.

Theater

The Directors Circle Theater just released its 1996-97 schedule of plays. Looks promising: Included are Torch Song Trilogy (Sept. 1996), and Lips Together, Teeth Apart (spring 1997), and others. We'll bring more details as the time comes closer. Info 454-0636.

Music

Me'Shell NdegéOcello was interviewed in the May 18 Billboard and was on the cover story for the July issue of Out. She revealed that her new single, "Leviticus: Faggot," is about being a young black gay male.

Melissa Etheridge will be at Darien Lakes Performing Arts Center September 1 (716-852-5000).

Extra Fancy's new video "Sinnerman" reportedly contains a very explicit gay love scene.

Soundtracks are available from many of the popular new gay & lesbian films. Stonewall, (Columbia) features songs by the Ad Libs, Judy Garland, Shirelles, Shangri-Las, etc. Curious choices (except Judy), since much of that music comes from an earlier musical era than the Stonewall riots (which happened the same year as Woodstock, after all); still the songs are a lot of campy fun. Other soundtracks of recent movies include: The incredibly true story of 2 girls in love, The Jeffrey Soundtrack, Claire of the Moon - O.S.T., The Adventures of Priscilla Queen of the Dessert, and The Brady Bunch Movie. Street Outreach Prevention (STOP)

The Street Outreach Prevention (STOP) program, funded through the Erie County Health Department has been working in the community for the last ten months providing prevention education. They are now reaching out to the Hispanic community for help to stop the spread of HIV and AIDS.

"Sharing is Caring" was the theme chosen to bring members of the Hispanic Community together to discuss ways to improve efforts to stop the spread of HIV and AIDS. This occurred on the afternoon of June 1, 1996 at the Hispanic American Council. A panel of experts presented information on HIV and AIDS, and a plan was formulated from the excellent recommendations presented by the audience. The Hispanic community wants to be a strong vital force in the fight to stop AIDS.

We need to remember that our most effective weapon in the battle against HIV and AIDS is education. If you are interested in learning more about the fight or are interested in helping to spread information, call Wilfredo or Elizabeth at 455-0212.

EGCN starts "Sex & health" feature

Starting this month, EGCN will be carrying our new "Sex & health" column on a fairly regular basis.

We'll be carrying stuff that's important (and fun!) to know for those who are concerned about sexual health.

If there's something you'd like to share with our readers for this feature, please do! An erotic safer sex video, an experience our readers might learn from, some thoughts, a great new strawberry-flavored condom-safe lube...whatever! You can write it up or just send us the info. Sign it, or not.

We'll be carrying items of interest to all sexual orientations—gay male, lesbian, bisexual, straight—because a sizable portion of our readers are bisexuals and straight allies.

Also, for this feature, we have also accepted advertising from two adult bookstores. Regardless of what one personally thinks of pornography or adult bookstores, we do believe there is a good bit to recommend them in terms of safer sex. We'll probably explore that thought more in the August and September newsletters. We hope our readers will give some careful thought to our decision—as we have—and that we can discuss our disagreements with respect for each other.

Report on lesbians and HIV/AIDS

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has published the first-ever federal government report on Lesbian HIV issues. The Report on Lesbian HIV Issues Meeting reflects the current knowledge of the impact of the disease on women who have sex with women and provides direction to the CDC on developing appropriate research and prevention initiatives. The meeting report can be ordered by calling the CDC National AIDS Clearinghouse at 1-800-458-5231.

A fuller discussion of the Report will be carried in the August or September issue of EGCN.

FDA approves HIV home test kit

The Food and Drug Administration has approved the first home test kit for detecting HIV. The test kit is called the Confide HIV Testing Service. Johnson & Johnson will market it through a subsidiary, Direct Access Diagnostics. At this point, the kit is not widely available. It can be bought over the counter only in Texas; in Florida and Texas it can be ordered over the phone.

Canada passes civil rights bill

OTTAWA—In early May, Canada's House of Commons passed a federal civil gay rights bill by a vote of 153-76.

Supreme Court strikes down Cincinnati's anti-gay law

WASHINGTON, June 17—The United States Supreme Court ruled against Cincinnati's Issue 3. It is considered another very important victory for gay civil rights, and was the first case the Court used applying the landmark case that overturned Colorado's anti-gay Amendment 2 in May (known formally as Romer v. Evans).

NGLTF on church burnings and Hate crimes law

WASHINGTON, DC, June 26—The National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF) applauded the passage of the "Church Arson Prevention Act of 1996" today in the Senate. The measure would broaden the ability of the federal government to seek criminal penalties in cases involving vandalism or destruction of religious institutions. The bill also provides for a six year reauthorization of the Hate Crimes Statistics Act.

The "Church Arson Prevention Act" is in response to increased crimes against religious institutions, especially black churches in the Southeast, in the past 18 months. According to federal officials, there have been 216 attacks against religious institutions—black churches and white churches, synagogues and mosques—since May 1990. Over half of these attacks have occurred since January 1995. Most disturbing, 78% of all suspicious church fires in the Southeast occurred at black churches.

The six year reauthorization of the Hate Crimes Statistics Act (HCSA) was a compromise move by the Senate to appease House leaders. The original Senate version of the HCSA bill called for permanent reauthorization of the landmark law, which the House failed to move on. HCSA, which expired at the end of 1995, was passed in 1990 and signed into law by President Bush. It requires the Department of Justice to collect and publish annual statistics on crimes that manifest prejudice based on race, religion, sexual orientation and ethnic origin.

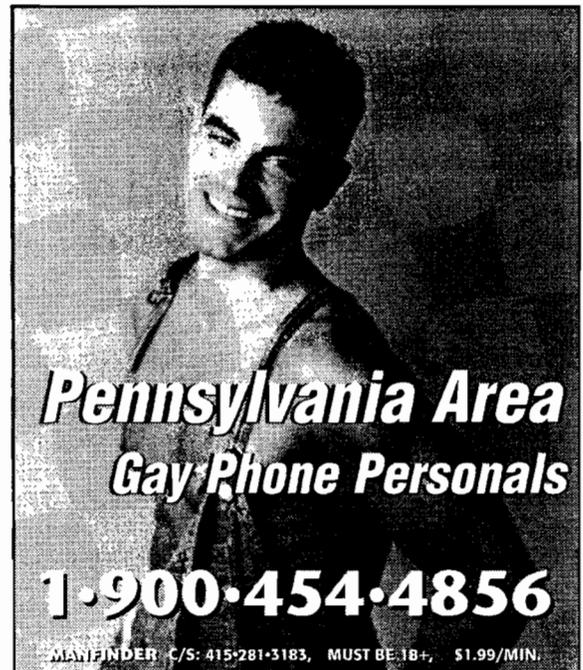

Numerous civil rights groups have been advocating for permanent reauthorization of the act.

Melinda Paras, NGLTF executive director, praised the Church Arson Prevention Act as it relates to the attacks on churches, particularly the recent epidemic of burnings of Black churches, but expressed dismay at the limited reauthorization period of the Hate Crimes Statistics Act. Paras also denounced those responsible for the climate of "intolerance and hostility" that fosters attacks on black churches and other forms of hate violence.

Poll survey: How big is the LesBiGay vote?

Washington, April 25—A new voter survey, released by the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (NGLTF), shows that the gay, lesbian bisexual vote is more powerful than had been thought.

Power At the Polls: The Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Vote, is based on exit polling data from the 1992 and 1994 elections, collected by the Voter News Service. It had been largely ignored by the mainstream media, until the NGLTF released the report.

The VNS 1992 exit polling data found:

* Gay, lesbian and bisexual self-identified voters constituted 3.2 percent of the total voting population in the 1992 elections. That is roughly the size of the national Latino vote in the same year, more than double the size of the Asian vote, and slightly less than the Jewish vote. It's also as large as the old staple of American politics, the family farm vote. "Because we know that fear still keeps the majority of gay people in the closet, this figure of 3.2 percent must be considered a floor rather than a ceiling, and a basement floor at that," said John D'Emilio, NGLTF Policy Institute director and author of the report. "In other words, the total number of these voters is certain to be higher than three percent and is likely to be considerably higher."

* The self-identified gay, lesbian and bisexual vote is a younger vote, and will inevitably grow in size. In comparison with the overall voting population, the self-identified vote is under-represented in the older-than-60 group, is concentrated in the under-40 group, and is represented especially heavily among voters younger than 30.

* The self-identified gay vote was strongest in larger, urbanized areas. In towns with a population between 5,000 and 10,000 people, the self-identified vote is slightly more than one percent. But in cities with populations between 250,000 and 500,000, the figure rises to more than eight percent.

* The gay, lesbian and bisexual voter leans heavily toward liberal positions on key issues.

The VNS 1992 exit polling data is based on a nationally representative sample of 15,488 voters. The poll allowed gays, lesbians and bisexuals to identify themselves for the first time in a presidential election.

Disney Boycott

The Southern Baptist Convention has officially ordered a boycott of Walt Disney theme parks, movies, and products. The boycott was primarily due to Disney's positive relationship to...and policy of inclusion of gays and lesbians.

You can help to counter the influence of the boycott. Some of the actions you can take:

(1) Write a letter to Disney thanking them for the positive things they have done for the gay and lesbian community and for being a leader in helping to counter bigotry and homophobia.

(2) State in your letter that you plan on increasing your purchase of Disney products and serves as a direct result of the Southern Baptist Convention boycott.

(3) Write a letter to your local paper encouraging people to counteract the boycott as a means of fighting intolerance and homophobia.

(4) Call and send letters and email to your friends and associates asking them to do the same. Please redistribute and repost this widely.

You need not identify yourself as lesbian/gay/bisexual when you write. Also, straight allies are strongly encouraged to write. If you have children, mention that.

White lace and promises

by Sharon Sutter

What does a wedding ring mean? A commitment? A promise to love, cherish, and share? Sexual monogamy? Sure it does—it means all these things and more. Legend tells us that we wear the wedding ring on our left fingers because it was once believed that a vein from this finger led directly to the heart. So, I guess a wedding ring means your heart is circled with love—if you're straight that is. If you're gay, you're not allowed—legally—to make any such commitments. Why not?

Well, politicians and others who protest gay rights and gay marriages seem to feel that it "normalizes" the relationship. But what's more normal than two people in love wanting to spend their lives together—and wanting society to sanction and recognize—legally—their union?

Actually, though, marriage didn't begin with such a noble idea as love as its foundation. Basically, it started as a socioeconomic device. Thousands of years ago, the King from Tribe A decided he wanted the land that the King of Tribe B owned. King A had a daughter, King B had a son, so King A offered King B six cows and his daughter, and King B responded with an offer of four acres of land and his son—and a marriage was made. Maybe the boy and girl grew to at least like one another, but who knows? There were no guarantees.

Eventually, society moved away from deciding marriages based solely on economics—but marriage is still an important economic and legal safeguard for two people.

If a man dies in a car accident, his wife will still have a home. Her children will still be allowed to live with her. And, while her husband is in a coma, it is to her the doctors speak, telling her of their findings and the poor prognosis, and finally, stepping back to give her a few precious, private moments to say good-bye. But what if you're gay?

If a gay person's partner dies, will the landlord ask you to leave your home because the lease specified both of you in the apartment? Will the bank, concerned it may not get paid, give you hassles? Will the doctor talk to you—can you participate in decisions about your partner's care? Will the courts take the children you have been raising together? If your partner's parents or siblings weren't supportive of the relationship, will you ever get in to visit? Well, maybe—if you and your partner have foreseen every conceivable problem that might occur and have spelled out, with a lawyer's help, what you wish. And each of you better have papers for the other.

Why should it be that complicated when a simple trip to the courthouse, a few dollars for a license, and a few words by a justice-of-the-peace, and his signature on a piece of paper would legalize your commitment to your partner and grant you the rights any straight couple has?

Many who oppose gay marriages seem upset with the idea of two men or two women having sex with each other. In fact, to me, this seems to be almost the entire reason for opposing gay marriages. But, certainly, politicians don't think they can regulate sexual behavior, do they? All people—gay and straight—will have sex married or not. So knowing that, the argument becomes two-fold: gay people want "special privileges" and marriage is a holy union, a sacrament to God, joining a man and a woman together.

The religious argument presumes marriage is a holy, God-sanctioned union between two people. Maybe that's true. But St. Paul, as you may recall, wasn't too keen on marriage. He actually believed people should remain single, like him. Still, he said, if you can't control your lust, it's better to be married then. So marriage also sanctions sex. And religious conservatives tell us that God doesn't approve of same-sex unions. They use the Bible to back up that claim. But the Bible was written by men (and some women, too), and reflects the beliefs of the writer. And, if you accept the premise that God is an omnipotent, omniscient Being, then I, for one, would not presume to know this Being's thoughts.

So, we come to the argument that wanting the right to marry is a "special privilege." The lawmakers realize they can't keep tow gay people from having sex, so they try the next best thing—refusing to allow society to sanction a gay person's love and commitment for a partner.

Gay marriage is a "special privilege" because it challenges society's long-held belief that only people of the opposite sex can join together and form a family. It challenges society's concept of the "traditional" family. So, gay marriage is a special privilege that gay people are demanding.

We don't want any "special privileges." We want what society has accepted as a basic right for hundreds of years—the right to love whom we choose and the right to live with that person in a loving, committed and legal, relationship. I guess that is pretty special, after all.

PA marriage bill postponed

from Chris Newman, LGLV

Thanks to everyone who called or faxed their state senators! [regarding state gay marriage ban].

We succeeded in postponing the marriage bill for the moment. This is an excellent victory and has opened the doors to more negotiation on the issue. Senators on the Judiciary committee were impressed by the number of faxes and phone calls we generated. Most of them "missed" the session when the vote was scheduled to take place.

However, the religious political extremists will continue to press the anti-marriage bill. Because the political groundwork for same-sex marriage hasn't been set in Pennsylvania, our prospects are not good on this issue. LGLV will do whatever we can and with a lot of luck we just might be able to prevent the anti-marriage bill permanently.

If you want to help now, write personal letters to your state legislators about the issue. Talk about how the anti-marriage bill will effect you and focus on issues like hospital visitation rights and insurance, which even conservative representatives will understand.

The bad news is that this whole marriage issue has had a negative impact on the hate crimes bill. It had passed the Judiciary committee, but the Republican caucus sent it back due to concern over the marriage issue. It is unfortunate the marriage issue has come up so many years before we are ready to deal with it politically.

In her top-syndicated column (June 18), Landers printed a letter from two PFLAG coordinators — Bob and Laurie — who thanked her "for stating that counseling will not change sexual orientation." The couple went on to recommend (in some detail) PFLAG's various services, and encouraged "both gay children and their parents contact their local chapter."

As the letter explained: "PFLAG promotes the health and well-being of gay, lesbian and bisexual persons, their families and their friends and offers support to help them cope with an adverse society. We provide education to enlighten an ill-informed public and advocacy to end discrimination and secure equal civil rights. PFLAG provides opportunities for dialog about sexual orientation and acts to create a society that is healthy and respectful of human dignity."

The public nominated their favorite gay and lesbian books, in 19 categories. Five finalists were announced and a single book from each category was chosen by a panel of 104 judges.

Since their inception in 1989, Lammys have witnessed a still expanding publishing boom. Deacon Maccubbin, publisher of the Lambda Book Report, which sponsors the Awards, said "This year marked the maturation of the gay and lesbian book industry, as many of the books that a few years ago made news for their six figure author advances from mainstream houses began to appear on the shelves. At the same time, the gay and lesbian small presses continue to thrive and expand. As a result, the pool from which we draw the finalists and winners of the Lambda Literary Awards grows in size and depth. We are proud of the part that the Lammys have played in developing and celebrating our literary tradition."

The "Lammys" are sponsored by the Lambda Book Report. For more information, contact Lambda Book Report, 1625 Connecticut Avenue NW, Washington DC 20009-1013 or (202) 462-7924.

Experimental safer sex gel

Researchers are optimistic about a gel that could be used to stop the transmission of HIV. The gel might be able to be used when condoms are not available or when the insertive partner refuses to wear them.

In a study done at the University of California at Davis, six female macaque monkeys were exposed to simian immunodeficiency virus (SIV), which is a relative of human immunodeficiency virus, or HIV. Of the four monkeys who received the gel, none became infected with SIV. The two who did not receive it did become infected. In a University of Washington study in November, PMPA injections prevented infection when given within 24 hours after injection of the gel, monkeys were injected with SIV. This latter finding also provides hope for people exposed to HIV through needle sticks or cuts.

The gel is called PMPA, an abbreviation for its full name: (R)-9-(2-phosphonylmethoxypropyl) adenine. It acts like the HIV/AIDS drug AZT, but is 100 times less toxic. Further testing must be done before the gel is released onto the market. Most important among the questions is if the results shown in primates will be the same as in humans. Another issue is safety.

Hot & healthy sex mag for bisexuals

Options is an erotic publication for bisexuals that really pushes the idea that safer sex is not only ethical and smart but really hot as well. In the male-male stories, the writers sometimes share thoughts on bisexual issues, as well as the conversations and struggles they have with sexual partners over what kind of sex they're willing to have. Unprotected male-male sex happens in Options stories, but only if the story is set in the era before AIDS. Interestingly, in the women-woman sex stories latex barriers are not used.

You can pick up Options at gay stores and adult book stores. Subscriptions $19.95. Options, PO Box 470, Port Chester NY 10573. For info about getting a sample copy, send a long SASE.

Use the right lube

The single biggest reason for breakage in latex condoms is using an oil-based lubricant. Use only water-based lubricants for latex condoms or dams.

Here is a list of lubricants that are safe for condoms. You might want to save it for comparison shopping!

Brands available in drug stores and pharmacy sections of department stores (usually with condoms and/or birth control products):

K-Y
Astroglide
Women's Health Institute brand
House brands (K-Mart lube? Yes...and Phar-Mor, Revco, Rite Aid, CVS, etc. They're the same stuff as K-Y but about a buck less.)

Here is a list of brands available in gay stores and sex stores. There tends to be more variety to choose from among these. All lubricants listed in this article are fine for either vaginal or anal intercourse, but note that Embrace and Slippery Stuff are especially popular for anal intercourse:

Embrace	ForPlay
Slippery Stuff	Probe
Astroglide	Erogl
Persona	Aqua Lube

Wet (Although the label says this brand is safe to use with latex, it contains Vitamin E, which is a vegetable oil. We are contacting the company with our questions about this and will report on their response in the August or September EGCN.)

Too embarrassed to buy the stuff?

Glycerin is safe to use with latex condoms, even though the label doesn't say so. It's in a plain-looking bottle, generally stocked with the first aid items.

NOT SAFE FOR LATEX CONDOMS OR DAMS:

- Anything containing mineral oil, vegetable oil, or animal oil.
- Petroleum jelly (a.k.a. Vaseline or petrolatum).
- Cold cream, hand lotion, baby oil, massage oil, butter, lanolin, Crisco.
- Anything that says "J/O" formula, "oil-based" or "men's cream" on it.
- Anything that is packaged in a jar.
- Anything (besides glycerin) that doesn't explicitly say that it's safe for latex and/or condoms.
