Women Behind Bars is a hilarious satire on the typical Hollywood "B" movies of the 1950's. Mary-Eleanor, an innocent duped into crime, lands in Greenwich Village's Women's House of Detention. Presiding over this pack of female flotsam is the massive matron, Pauline Weissfurcher, who has a taste for sadism and female flesh. Poor Mary-Eleanor ends up hardened and cynical, but that's just the way it was in the movies. Mary-Eleanor finds herself among the likes of Louise, the matron's stoolie who everyone hates (including Louise); Blanche Kaminsky, a butterfly waiting for her streetcar; Jo-Jo "The Bounce" Washington, this prison's answer to Edward G. Robinson: Ceri Netherland Plaza, the big blonde whose morals were as low as her price was high; Granny-Saga Lee Crocker, a religious old lady with a chip on her tongue; Gloria Jean Kojax, a real Camel Girl-she'll walk a mile to the chair; Ada Morris - too much speed has slowed her down; Maria Guadalupe Margueritia Teresa Santanos-San Juan's greatest export.

Cast includes Bobbi B. as the matron, Roger Czulewicz as Louise, Dee Horstman as Granny, Rita Kilbane as Gloria, Rachel Androla as Guadalupe, Vickie Kaeberlein as Blanche, Hillary Steigmeyer as Ada, Carolin Prichard as Cheri, Jessica Dows as Mary-Eleanor, Vanessa Weibler as Jo Jo, and Dave DiNicola as Man.

"Sex is rampant and comically cheerful...a delirious evening of grade A tomfoolery"—NY Times

Women Behind Bars will be playing July 17-August 2 at Director's Circle 1505 State St., in Erie.

Performance art. The poetry. The plasticity. The humor. The transformation.

Laura Bean, writer and performer, reflects on the works she will be presenting in an evening of performance entitled The Toilet Brush Two-Step:

"A friend once told me she never felt like an adult until she was thirty. These pieces, summarily my own Adulthood 101, are a monument to my twenties, a godless time when sex passed for love, and $2.00 coffees and cheap spiral notebooks filled in the rest.

"In those binders I wrestled with my imperfect lovers, my intolerable self and a mean god, until arriving at the painful, though highly useful realization that I was the only person I should possibly do anything about.

"Defining who that self was is mostly the business of 'Iron.' God and the spiritual life have found their way into 'First Swimming Lesson,' while love relationships are the primary focus of 'Toilet Brush.'

"It's good to be thirty."

Laura Bean, an Erie native, graduated with a Master of Fine Arts degree in creative writing from the University of Arizona in Tucson. She recently returned from Colombia, South America, where she worked with two different theater companies. Solo works will be presented Saturday, July 26 at 8 p.m. at the Erie Art Museum Annex, 10 E. 5th..

Also featured will be Aunt Killer offering tips from Killer's School of Charm and hand-drumming with Kurt and Phyl. Go girls go!

Picnic Wrap up

by Michael Mahler

First and foremost, we should thank all the folks who made Pride Erie '97 such a success. Elaine Hill, coordinator of PFLAG-Erie, gave tirelessly of her time, energy, and own funds. Dave Mulholland helped with planning and setup. Marilyn Borawski, who moved back to Erie after 20 years, called me up a week or two before the picnic asking what she could do to help and dove right in. You go girl! Thanks to Quality Markets-East Grandview, Wegman's-Peach Street, Tops-26th Street, Giant Eagle-26th and Peninsula and Coca-Cola for donating food and drink. Thanks to Clemens Zehender ("Clumsi Clemsi" the clown) for putting on a thoroughly delightful performance. (Clemens donated this to our community). Many thanks to the Unitarian-Universalist Congregation of Erie for having a beautiful and deeply moving Interfaith Pride Service. Special thanks to Rev. Terry Kime of the UU and Sr. Mary Louise of the Benedictine Sisters for putting together the Order of Service and to Elaine Hill and Rev. Lyta Seddig for their contributions to the service. Kudos to Jeff Hill for cooking at the picnic (and dealing with the Burger Turner of Death.) Thanks to Eric Hetz for giving a ride to a young member of our community. Thanks to my husband, Micheal Miller for making signs, decorations, set up, cleanup and putting up with me. Thanks to Deb Spilko for staying at the cabin when the site had to be moved to let others know of the change. Thanks to Marilyn Borawski, Paul Grubbs, Chris Young, and Dave and everyone who helped clean up after the picnic. And you know, as long as this list is, I am certain that there are people I am still overlooking to thank, for which I apologize. I would like to thank everyone from our community who showed up and celebrated.

There were a couple of changes in this year's picnic from previous years. We had to move the site, as the cabin we had reserved had five inches of water on the floor. So we went with the pavilion by Beach 11. We also added a family portrait (Group photo) at the picnic and an Interfaith Pride Service that we hope become annual permanent traditions. The attendance count is hard to estimate, but we think that we surpassed last year's total of 125. There were many new faces, as well as some old friends. Also new to this year, WSEE-TV 35 did a story about Pride Erie, which ran on the Saturday June 14 news broadcast at 6 p.m.

I am so thrilled and moved by how beautiful and diverse our community is. I am proud that we have picnics that people can bring their parents and their children too. Events that our straight allies feel welcome at. We have a lot to celebrate about pride in the Erie area!

Entertainment notes

by Deb Spilko

Gatherings

The Pride Picnic was quite nice (see previous page). Newswatch 35 came out and interviewed attendees...but they also interviewed a woman from a church (it wasn't clear if she was from an actual church picnic), asking her what she thought of the Pride event. She responded that she wasn't comfortable with it. With what? Gay people eating potato salad? Playing volleyball? Watching a clown with the kids? It used to be that anti-gay religious people cited an "immoral, unwholesome lifestyle" for being so against us. Now they're griping about gays getting to do "wholesome" things. Remember a couple years ago when that mean-spirited North East Church told Skateway Erie that they would give them a problem if they continued to allow LGLV to hold skating parties there? And then there's the Southern Baptists' boycott of the Disney Corporation because it allows Gay Day at Disney World, offers benefits for same-sex couples in committed monogamous relationships, and allowed the 35-year-old lead character of a sitcom to really fall in love for the first time in her life. We need to confront these people about their own belief systems. Two of Christ's strongest teachings were to love others and to not judge. A lot of antigay Christians justify their hatred with the often insincere cliché, "Love the sinner, hate the sin." But the fact is, they don't want gays to be either wholesome or unwholesome. If I may borrow from a Paula Poundstone bit, their gripe about gays seems to be, "That breathing thing you do...the constant in and out and in and out...'

Travel

If you travel to Buffalo during July and August, please note that Rainbow Pride will be closed on Sundays during those months.

If you're looking for cheap accommodations while visiting Toronto, consider Neil Wycick, on Gerrard Street. This is normally a dorm, but in the summer months they make it into an inexpensive hotel. Not for everyone, but if you want to save money and don't care about things like using a communal bathroom, it's one option. For details, call 416-977-2320.

Film & Video

Out gay British actor Rupert Everett plays Julia Roberts' gay friend in the newly-released comedy film My Best Friend's Wedding. Unlike a lot of gay-pal-of-straight-girl roles, Everett's character has a lot of substance and a life of his own.

Jodie Foster searches for Life Out There in Contact, opening in theaters in mid-July.

Some films that you probably won't see around here (but keep an eye out for them when you're out of town):

Butch Camp A gay male romantic comedy with Judy Tenuta as the nasty drill instructor; opens this month.

Late Bloomers (Strand) A female teacher/coach and mother/school secretary, both in their 40's, fall in love in a small town.

All Over Me A 15-year-old girl rocker's story of self-discovery. Alternative music soundtrack.

Alive & Kicking (First Look) Romantic film focusing on the relationship between a young HIV + dancer and a middle aged AIDS counselor

Music

Greg Ropp and his new band 5 Empty Chambers will be releasing their new CD at the end of July. Called Wasted and Spent, the album was two years in the making. Ropp, who wrote all of the music and lyrics, says that this is a really personal album. "It is a brutal, upfront view of some things in life. The lyrics are gender-neutral but this was definitely a gay-friendly project. The lyrics are dark but hopeful. They're intensely personal, but not so much so that other people can't relate to them." The 32-year-old Ropp, known to some as Edinboro's Oldest Surviving Teenager, thinks the strongest appeal will be to the so-called Generation X. "It deals with things like drugs, angst, the depression that many young gay people feel...fun stuff like that," he explains.

And what about the music? "It would be labeled alternative, but I cringe at that label," says Kopp "It's sort of a fusion between classic rock and alternative...it doesn't quite sound like Nirvana, but not quite Neil Young either."

While his former band, The Void, performed at bars a lot, Ropp plans on performing at coffeehouses and other, quieter settings. "I like to do studio lyrics that are worth listening to," he says. "In bars, a lot of times, people really aren't listening to you. We're a lot more mellow than The Void." Watch Showcase, EGCN, In Tune and other entertainment magazines for their performance dates.

"What I'd like to see," says Ropp, "is for people to just close the door, turn out the lights, and listen, and have the songs bring peace and happiness into their lives and realize they're not alone."

Wasted and Spent should be available by the end of this month at Record Den, Barnes & Noble, Media Play, Poppa Ropp's, Cup-A-Ccino's, 'Boro Tunes, and all area record outlets. For more info, call Ropp at 734-3014.

Theater

Lesbian performance art will be on display on July 26 with The Toilet Brush Two-Step. Featured performer will be Laura Bean. Also appearing will be a personal favorite of mine, Aunt Killer, offering tips from her Lesbian School of Charm, plus hand-drumming with Kurt and Phyl. Erie Art Museum Annex, 10 East 5th Street in downtown Erie. $3 donation. For more details see the write-up on page 7.

Directors Circle will present Women Behind Bars July 17 through August 2. It's a spoof on women in prison movies (see write-up on page 6). Bobbi B plays the Matron, a role that Divine played during its original theatrical run.

Television

Paula Poundstone will be appearing regularly as the Roving Reporter on Rosie O'Donnell.

If you tuned in to WQLN in June to watch The Times of Harvey Milk or other programs, you may have been surprised to see the program you expected was not airing. That's because the station had a serious accident and had to switch directly to national PBS satellite feed. It seems that a truck driver got lost on his way to the landfill and managed to damage a guy line of a transmission tower. Afraid that the tower might fall and smoosh WQLN employees, station management sent them home and switched to the national feed. At this point, things are happily back to normal.

On the Discovery Channel's Interior Motives, host Christopher Lowell offers all kinds of tips for home decorating and entertaining. However, you probably won't care for the show if you're bothered by the stereotype of "Maybe Jesus knew that we're all sinners, in one way or another. Maybe he recognized that, in some cases, one person's sin is another's salvation.

"If Jesus were alive today, we might find him on Splash Mountain with a gay group from Abilene, wiping water from his eyes, laughing and singing along, 'Zip-a-dee-doo-dah, zip-a-dee-ay!"

—Susan Ager religious writer for Knight-Ridder

a gay interior designer who gets positively giddy over themes like "Slipcover Savvy" and "Marvelous Molding." The show airs 12:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.; episodes in each time slot are different.

ABC has axed Relativity, which featured Lisa Edelstein as the lesbian sister of the male lead. The network cited low ratings in pulling the critically-acclaimed drama...a predictable outcome of putting a drama aimed at younger people into a Saturday night time slot.

In 1992, Navy seaman Allen Schindler was beaten to death by two Navy shipman, because he was gay. Schindler's mother Dorothy Hajdys struggled to bring her son's murderers to justice, and succeeded. She also struggled to bring this story to American viewers, taking it to all four networks and several cable channels. Finally, the Lifetime Channel accepted the project, and the movie Any Mother's Son: The Dorothy Hajdys Story will premier on August 11. Check listings for time.

Bill Brochtup, who played the gay secretary in NYPD Blue, came out in an issue of People magazine.

I understand a new season of The Real World is coming up in July, but can't find any other details on it, or whether they'll have a gay or lesbian cast member this time

AMC will be saluting Tarzan movies a number of evenings during June. Was Johnny Weissmuller gay? You guys wish. It's probably crossing some line to include it here, but actually it was Cheeta the chimp. According to Maureen O'Sullivan (who played Jane), Cheeta had a major crush on Weissmuller. The chimp's feelings were so obvious that they had to film him from the waist up at times. The producers tried to correct the problem, but the make-up and props departments both refused to have anything to do with Cheeta's thing. Cheeta was also violently jealous of O'Sullivan and sometimes tried to attack her when she came near Weissmuller. Don't expect AMC to go into this, but if you want to check out these silly but classic movies, look at AMC listings during the evenings, especially July 14, 17, 18, and 27.

Bars

Chriss at Sneukers reports these changes: "We are now open Monday through Sunday from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. with Musical Mastery Mary as DJ on Friday and Saturday. Also Karaoke every other Sunday."

Correction: Lizzy's patio opens at 9 p.m., not 8 p.m.

Cyberspace

The Movie Stop downtown now has Internet access. Adults can get unlimited access to the web as well as chat rooms (no "cyber patrol"!). Cyber area is in a room off the side of the store. Also, the store has a color ink jet printer. Ask at the store for prices and details.

Lizzy Bordon's now has an email address: lizzbords@aol.com.

The email address and web site for The Embers are not currently active.

Sports

Even lesbians who don't go for sports were huddled around the historic June broadcast of the first WNBA (Women's National Basketball Association) game. For right now, the newly-formed WNBA is counting on TV broadcasts to build support for their efforts. You can get the whole schedule on the web at http://www.wnba.com/The schedule sort of goes like this: Fridays: evenings on Lifetime: Saturdays: afternoons on NBC; Mondays (during July): ESPN at 7:30 p.m.; Tuesdays (during August) ESPN 7:30 p.m.

You can catch women's softball in Cleveland at Forest Hills Park on Lee Road just north of Monticello... games on Friday evenings and Tuesdays at 7 and 8 p.m.

If you have it in your budget to get to Europe note that Amsterdam Gay Games will be held August 1-8, 1998. www.dds.nl~gaygames/index2.html

Another exotic travel event for 1998 is the International Gay and Lesbian Bowling Association 18th Annual Tournament. It will be held in Cleveland May 20-24. For info call Brian at 216-481-3236.

Openly gay man nominated to run for Jamestown City Council seat

by Greg Rabb

The Jamestown Democratic Committee made history on Wednesday June 4 when it nominated me as an openly-gay Democrat for one of three at-large positions on the Jamestown City Council. (A nice touch for gay pride month.) Now the hard part starts. I have a little less than five months to convince Jamestown to vote for me in enough numbers to give me one of the three seats. The nice part of this type of election is that I really only need to get the third highest vote total city-was to win, but I'm aiming higher.

For the next three weeks or so I will be concentrating on getting enough signatures to get on the ballot. In the meantime, I have appointed a campaign manager—Joshua Harris. Josh is young and straight, so we are sending a message that I am a candidate for all of Jamestown, not just gays.

I will welcome any help I can get. Donations (as small as $5) are welcome. Checks can be made payable to "Rabb for Jamestown" and sent to: Gregory P. Rabb, 518 Lakeview Avenue, Jamestown, NY 14701.

My treasurer is Martha Zenns—a bisexual woman. Now all I need is a lesbian on the team and I'm all set.

Anyone wishing to volunteer for the campaign can reach me at the above address, through email or at 716-664-9174 or 716-665-5220 Ext. 204

People from some distance are welcome to stay overnight as my guest at my swell house. I'll keep you up to date.

I've worked with the committee for two years to get this nomination and I finally did it. Unfortunately because I was out of town at the time, I was unable to enjoy my success.

In addition to the Democratic Party nomination, I recently also received the Independence Party endorsement. So I will have two lines on the November ballot.

August Black gay pride events in Cleveland

August brings the debuts of two separate but related Pride events for the black gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender communities in Cleveland (people outside Cleveland are welcome as well).

BlackOut 97 will be held August 1,2 and 3. Its organizers, BlackOut Productions, describe it as "nationally billed, first rate entertainment and cultural event, targeted toward the African-American Gay and Lesbian Community." Friday will see a VIP reception and "Show Out!" Saturday will see workshops and other activities: (Session I: Identity, Family Relationships, Relationships for Mature gay and Lesbian Person; Session II: Church, Career Options, Living With AIDS, Legal Options, Session III: Networking, Being Black and Gay, Holistic Identity approach), and "Workout!". Sunday there will be a picnic at Edgewater Park on Cleveland's near west side. For more info call 1-800-659-4285. Proceeds will benefit Men of Color Concerned About AIDS (MOCCAA).

The first-ever gay Cleveland Black Pride will be held August 15, 16 and 17. The event will feature comedy, music, film workshops, and a picnic at Edgewater Park on Sunday. (Cleveland Mayor Michael White will read a proclamation at the picnic). On Friday, people wanting to party will head to Numbers Nite Club for Pride night. On Saturday, they'll go to Ohio City Oasis. Job discrimination bill reintroduced

Sponsors Cite Record Support From Lawmakers, Voters

by Human Rights Campaign

WASHINGTON, June 10—A bipartisan coalition of senators and congressmen reintroduced the Employment Non-Discrimination Act today, a bill that would make it illegal under federal law to discriminate in the workplace on the basis of sexual orientation.

The five lead sponsors held a news conference to spotlight the record level of support for the measure among lawmakers and the public. The bill—known as ENDA—is a top legislative priority for the Human Rights Campaign in this Congress.

"This bill is about equal rights in the workplace for all Americans," said Human Rights Campaign Executive Director Elizabeth Birch.

"The Employment Non-Discrimination Act rises above partisan, religious and regional differences —and support is growing as more people learn that job discrimination based on sexual orientation is legal in most of the country."

ENDA would protect Americans from job discrimination based on sexual orientation. It would prohibit quotas, and it would not apply to religious organizations, businesses with fewer than 15 employees or the military.

Current federal law does not protect Americans from discrimination in the workplace on the basis of sexual orientation. In 39 states, an employer may legally fire workers solely because they are lesbian, gay, bisexual or heterosexual. Eleven states have laws prohibiting such discrimination. California, Connecticut, Hawaii, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin have had these laws on the books for a number of years; Maine and New Hampshire enacted such laws earlier this spring.

Incidents of such discrimination are widespread. In nine of the 11 states where there is legal protection, more than 2,000 complaints of job discrimination based on sexual orientation have been recorded.

Victims of workplace discrimination based on sexual orientation were on hand at the June 10 news conference, conducted by Sens. James Jeffords, R-VT., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Joseph I. Lieberman, D-

Conn., and Reps. Christopher Shays, R-Conn., and Barney Frank, D-Mass.

First introduced in June 1994, ENDA came within one vote of passage in the Senate last September. At its reintroduction on June 10, ENDA already had more cosponsors than it had garnered by the close of the 104th Congress last year.

"ENDA is emerging as a common-sense measure as the public learns that countless Americans still work in fear, knowing they can legally be fired from their jobs because of discrimination based on sexual orientation," said Winnie Stachelberg, HRC's legislative director. "With a record level of broad-based support, we have a solid chance of passing ENDA in this 105th Congress."

President Clinton and Vice President Gore reaffirmed their strong support for ENDA at a White House meeting April 24 with HRC's Birch and other leaders from the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights. In a statement supporting ENDA, the president referred to the vast majority of states without legal protection from discrimination based on sexual orientation. "Those who face

Linda Foll Johnson Realtor Million Dollar Club

this kind of job discrimination have no legal recourse, in either our state or federal courts. This is wrong," Clinton said

The president, who first endorsed ENDA in October 1995, said the bill is about "ensuring that Americans, regardless of their sexual orientation, can find and keep their jobs based on their ability and the quality of their work. It is designed to protect the rights of all Americans to participate in the job market without fear of unfair discrimination. I support it and I urge all Americans to do so. And I urge Congress to pass it expeditiously."

Also in April, the Human Rights Campaign released the results of a national bipartisan poll demonstrating that an unprecedented 68 percent of voters support passage of ENDA—including 59 percent of Republicans, 69 percent of independents and 79 percent of Democrats. In addition, voters in every region of the country strongly support the measure, with 77 percent of Americans favoring it in the Northeast, 71 percent in the Midwest, 68 percent in the West, and 62 percent in the South.

The national survey of 1,000 adults who indicated they are registered to vote was conducted April 8-10 by The Tarrance Group, a Republican firm, and Lake Sosin Snell & Associates, a Democratic polling company. The survey's overall margin of error is plus or minus 3.1 percent.

In addition, an earlier national survey found that Christians support passage of a federal law like ENDA by 63 percent to 27 percent.

That poll of 1,007 voters was conducted Nov. 5-8, 1996, by Greenberg Research Inc., and has a margin of error of plus or minus 3.1 percent.

At its reintroduction, ENDA had already earned a record number of cosponsors -- but more are needed to move the bill forward.

Act Now! Urge your U.S. senators and representative to protect Americans from job discrimination based on sexual orientation by supporting and cosponsoring the Employment Non-Discrimination Act (ENDA). Bowers confesses to adultery and hypocrisy

Michael Bowers, the right wing ex-attorney general who defended Georgia's notorious 1986 anti-sodomy law in the landmark decision Bowers v. Hardwick, has admitted to committing adultery (adultery is also illegal in Georgia). Bowers make the confession in a June 5 interview as a candidate for governor.

The period of time that he was committing adultery not only included 1986, but also 1991, when he withdrew a job offer to an attorney after he learned she was a lesbian and planning to marry her partner. Bowers informed the woman, Robin Shahar, that he could not "separate the way someone does their job from the way they respect the law," an apparent reference to the fact that under Georgia law, she would be performing illegal sexual acts with her partner.

Bowers intends to stay in the race for governor.

HRC launches pro-Disney campaign to help the families of sick children

by the Human Rights Compaign Fund

WASHINGTON, June 26—With stuffed animals in hand, staff members of the Human Rights Campaign kicked off a nationwide effort today encouraging HRC members and other fair-minded Americans to counter the Southern Baptist Convention's anti-gay boycott of the Walt Disney Company by purchasing Disney gift certificates and donating them to children in hospitals throughout the country.

"This is an effort to turn something negative into something positive by countering the Disney boycott with the spirit of family, caring, compassion and community," said David M. Smith, HRC's senior strategist. "Our members wanted to be truly family-friendly by helping children in need while supporting Disney's commitment to fairness."

HRC staffers launched the campaign by donating $5,000 worth of Disney stuffed animals to children in Washington-area hospitals. HRC has called on its more than 200,000 members, and other Americans who don't want to see Disney punished for its equitable policies, to buy gift certificates for Disney retail stores, theme parks and movies and donate them to children in hospitals nationwide.

HRC is making organizing suggestions available to anyone who wants to participate in the project. These materials can be obtained by calling the Human Rights Campaign at (202) 628-4160 or visiting its online action center at http://www.hrc.org.

At the request of HRC Executive Director Elizabeth Birch, HRC supporter and financial writer Andrew Tobias made a $5,000 contribution to kick off the effort.

"The Southern Baptists have a right to their opinion," said Tobias, "but somehow I find it hard to believe that if Jesus were alive today, he would condemn Disney for providing health care to sick people, or condemn Ellen DeGeneres for being her loving, funny, honest self." On June 18 at its annual meeting in Dallas, the Southern Baptist Convention called for a nationwide anti-gay boycott of Disney and all its subsidiaries. Among the factors contributing to that decision were Disney's willingness to allow gay people to visit its theme parks, its policy of extending equal benefits to the domestic partners of its gay and lesbian employees, and its decision to allow the star of its ABC sitcom Ellen to become the first lead character on network television to honestly acknowledge being gay.

"We hope HRC's effort will do some good while demonstrating that—unlike the Southern Baptist Convention—most Americans recognize that faith, family and fairness go together," said Donna Red Wing, HRC's National Field Director.

A current Newsweek poll suggests that most Americans disagree with the Southern Baptists' decision, with fewer than one in five people saying that their families would go along with the boycott. The telephone poll of 753 adults was conducted June 19-20 by Princeton Research Associates and has a margin of error of plus or minus 4 percent. Smith also pointed to other recent polls showing that 70 percent of Christians believe gay and lesbian people should be protected from discrimination in the workplace, compared to 23 percent who don't. Sixty percent of evangelicals share this belief, while 34 percent do not.

Those polling results come from a national survey of 1,007 voters conducted Nov. 5-8, 1996, for the Human Rights Campaign by Greenberg Research Inc. The poll's margin of error is plus or minus 3.1 percent.

The Ninth Lambda Literary Awards showcase the maturing talent and power of the gay and lesbian literary community. This year's awards see the addition of the third new category in as many years: Transgender. The winner of this new category, Body Alchemy (Cleis), Loren Cameron's photographic story of his own transformation from female to male, also won in the Small Press category, and was a finalist in the Photography/Visual Arts Category.

The Lammys are an independent, juried award, selected by a rigorous, three-tiered process that draws on the talents and insights of literally thousands of gay and lesbian readers, writers, booksellers and critics. From November through January of every year, nominations are solicited from readers, publishers and the general public: this year, over 50,000 nominating forms were distributed nationally and internationally. An ad hoc committee selects five finalists in each category from the hundreds of books nominated. Finally, panels of judges select the best book in each category by secret ballot.

Tennessee Williams' Letters to Donald Windham 1940-1965 Donald Windham, editor (University of Georgia Press)

Back then...

20 years ago...

The first explicitly gay single hit the charts. Rod Stewart's ballad, "The Killing of Georgie" told the story of a young gay man who was killed in a bashing. The lyrics celebrated Georgie's short life and ended with "Georgie was a friend of mine."

25 years ago...

The first gay man and lesbian spoke at a national presidential convention on July 12, 1972.

After a decade of being criticized for making decisions in "closed, smoke-filled rooms," the Democratic Party opened up its 1972 convention in a way it had never been before. George McGovern, the liberal frontrunner and then nominee, encouraged bringing in many of the individuals and groups involved in the progressive social movements of the 1960's

Madeline Davis was one of the people invited to speak. Davis is a Buffalo lesbian who was then active with the Niagara Frontier Mattachine Society (an early gay rights organization). Jim Foster was the chairman of the Society for Individual Rights.

Davis and Foster weren't able to give their speeches till the early hours of the morning, but CBS cameras were still rolling, and a historic landmark had taken place.

In Davis' speech, she told the audience, "We have suffered the gamut of oppression, from being totally ignored to having our heads smashed and our blood spilled in the streets. Now we are coming out of our closets and onto the convention floor to tell you, the delegates, and to tell all gay people throughout America, that we are here to put an end to our fears."

Davis spoke in Edinboro a couple years after her historic speech. She told the audience that at the time she had accepted the offer to speak, she wasn't out, even to her co-workers at the library where she worked. She wanted to come out to them before the convention, and with great difficulty struggled with what to say as they sat around the table at break. When she finally told them, they cheerily told her, "Oh, we already knew that!"

And George McGovern? For a number of reasons, he lost a lot of the support he had built, and Richard Nixon was re-elected in a massive landslide.

"Bareback" sex: check your brain at the door

It's as bizarre as the Heaven's gate cult amd its believers are as gullible. Gay columnist Michelangelo Signorile recently wrote about a "small but growing" subculture of men who do not care if they get HIV, have sex parties where condoms aren't used, and in some cases welcome HIV, calling it "the gift" and throwing parties when they become infected.

In his column "Bareback and Reckless" in the July issue of Out magazine, Signorile writes about the "bareback sex" trend. To a large extent, he attributes its practice to a mistaken belief that protease inhibitors have all but cured HIV/AIDS. But at least some of these men also seemed determined to not hear the truth. When one interviewee, "Pete," says HIV is no longer a big deal because of these drugs, Signorile tries to inform him: that these drugs sometimes stop working, that they often cause horrible side effects, that they may be toxic in the long run. At the end, "Pete" responds, "It is a big deal. But it's manageable." "Pete" was hardly uneducated; he worked in the healthcare industry.

The thinking apparently goes: If I become positive, I won't have to worry about safer sex anymore, and can simply enjoy sex. The protease inhibitors will make that all possible.

He also criticized Poz magazine which "seems to eerily glamorize AIDS." The HIV/AIDS magazine recently ran a piece about the pleasures of bareback sex, and Poz's HIV+ editor said he "can't comment" on whether or not negative men should go bareback.

Bareback contacts were made online, in clubs and at "circuit parties."

Signorile also noted that quite a few of the bareback men regard safer sex programs as "sex-negative" and antigav.

"Will we be able to sustain wave after wave of HIV infection?" Signorile writes. "What if protease inhibitors go the way of AZT and begin to fizzle out? How will we continue to get hard-fought funding from the government, and compassion from our liberal friends, when they learn that a small but growing group of people within our own community are behaving recklessly and selfishly? How can many lesbians and a great many gay men themselves not throw their hands in the air, rightly disgusted and anguished?"

Ellen corrections and connections

First, a correction and clarification about the feature we ran about Ellen last month. In the listing of the Top 3 TV specials of all time (in which Ellen's Puppy Episode" ranked third, the figure 42 million viewers was cited. This may confuse people who have heard the figure 36 million viewers. But the 36 million statistic refers to the number of households that the Nielsen ratings company calculated were watching. Since it is safe to assume that not all these 36 million viewers were sitting home alone, the number was adjusted upward....You can check the exact numbers by looking at the Nielsens at http:// www.ultimatetv.com/news/nielsen/ Click on "Archives" and go to the week you want.

One paragraph in our feature read, "The Puppy Episode' had the third most watched Nielsen ratings of any show during the week it was broadcast..." In fact, the episode was the most watched episode for that week, and the third most watched television episode of all time.

The advertising amounts were quoted as they appeared in particular publications; there were some discrepancies, but we ran them as they appeared.

If you are interested in some tie-ins from the coming out episode(s) of Ellen, here goes:

Jenny Shimizu (the out Asian lesbian model in leather that was in Ellen's dream sequence) can be seen in Foxfire, which has a lesbian subplot. Billy Bob Thornton directed Sling Blade, featuring John Ritter in an excellent portrayal of a rural gay man. Video comes out late in July. Chastity Bono (who played a therapist at the Gay and Lesbian Community Center) can be occasionally be seen as a wee one on her parents' corny, dopey 1970's variety show The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour (9 p.m. weeknights on Nick at Night's TV Land). Gina Gershon is in the sexy but brutal film Bound. k.d. lang has a new album out called Drag and can be seen acting (sort of) in the movie Salmonber-

Everyone wondered where Martina Navratilova was during Ellen's coming out episode. In an interview in the July issue of Pittsburgh's Out, Martina explains that she was invited to appear in the episode, and wanted to, but her parents had come over from Czechoslovakia.

My Dear Friends

I need your help... On Friday, July 18, 1997 Lizzy Bordon's will be having their annual AIDS benefit.

I implore you to please attend this very worthwhile cause. We have all lost someone close to us due to this dreaded disease. It is to their memory we are dedicating our efforts. So many more of your friends need your support both financially and emotionally. Your presence would be greatly appreciated.

The time has come for the different factions of the gay-bi-lesbian community to unite again and show a common front, that we are there when members of our community need us. They need us now...not next month or next year, for some that time may be too late.

Once again please let me make this appeal to you... to help make this endeavor worthy to those who need our help. Thank You!

Love Ginger "Miss Erie 1976"
